CIRKER HAYES OF NEW YORK CITY NAMES ANDREW HAMILTON
SENIOR VICE PRESIDENT AND GENERAL MANAGER

Fine Art Storage and Logistics Firm Names New Leadership As It Expands Its Services

NEW YORK, June 9, 2009 – Cirker Hayes, celebrating 150 years of fine art storage and logistics in Manhattan, announced the appointment of Andrew Hamilton as senior vice president and general manager. An established leader in the hospitality industry, Mr. Hamilton will manage the firm's daily operations including sales, marketing, revenue generation, customer retention, warehouse, logistics, technology, wine storage, image enhancement and customer service excellence.

Mr. Hamilton's diverse background in hospitality includes serving as the general manager of the luxurious Marmara Manhattan Hotel in New York where he provided leadership and oversight for the hotel's financial, sales, marketing, legal, human resources and operational activities. He also served as resident manager and general manager for Milford Plaza Hotel In New York City for more than 10 years; directing activities associated with sales, marketing, revenue and yield, reservations, security, human resources, international sales, accounting, IT, front office, housekeeping and engineering. He is a graduate of Guilford College in Guilford, United Kingdom, and Bearwood College, Merchant Marine Academy, in Reading, United Kingdom. Mr. Hamilton is a member of the Academy of Wine Service, Great Britain, and the Hotel Catering and Institutional Management Association.

"Andrew Hamilton will be a tremendous asset to Cirker Hayes as we continue to enhance and expand our business," said Peter C. Lewis, managing partner. "His knowledge, experience and determination will lead our firm as it maintains its status as New York's premier fine art storage facility and evolves into a leader in private wine storage, expert moving services and more."

"I'm thrilled to join such a cherished industry-leading institution in New York City," said Hamilton. "I look forward to leading the team that is recognized as the city's most experience and trusted fine art storage and logistics experts. As the firm continues to expand with additional services, including fine wine storage, I'm excited about this firm's commitment to service and phenomenal potential."

Cirker Hayes continues to excel in handling, transporting and storing fine art and antiques as well as residential and commercial moving and storage. In April, 2009, Cirker Hayes announced the addition of Hayes Wine Cellar to its facility located at 305 East 61st St. Hayes Wine Cellar allows connoisseurs, retailers and others to store their wines in optimal conditions for proper aging and preservation. A modern computerized heating, cooling and humidification system ensures that the cellar maintains a temperature of 55 degrees with 60% humidity. With a capacity to store up to 12,000 cases of wine, Hayes Wine Cellar also features advanced 24-hour security and fire protection including video camera surveillance, limited access storage areas, intrusion alarms and additional layers of security.

To ensure the integrity of fine wines, Hayes Wine Cellar also provides professional handling, transportation, shipping and receiving services. An experienced staff and a fleet of climate-controlled vehicles is available for immediate pick-up and delivery of wines in New York City, the Hamptons and Westchester County. Additionally, Hayes Wine Cellar provides expert moving services for wine connoisseurs interested in relocating their collections.

Hayes Wine Cellar's skilled in-house packing and crating team has more than 75 years of combined experience in the preparation of fine possessions for shipment. The firm's master craftsmen will pack and crate wines to ensure their safety and facilitate national and international shipments. Hayes Wine Cellar can also facilitate the receiving of wines, both small and large shipments, on behalf of its clients.

Utilizing the latest technology in inventory management, Hayes Wine Cellar features a scanner and bar code system for the tracking of each individual bottle of wine. Clients will be able to view and manage their entire inventories online as well as schedule pick-ups, deliveries and other services.
